

Since 1991, The Renfrew Center Foundation Conference has been dedicated to providing eating disorders education and training for professionals in which to discover, debate and share the best of what we bring to our profession. This year, in particular, we recognize the importance of connecting as a community to build and reinforce our shared values, resiliency and hope for the future. Through clinical practice, research and thoughtful reflection on issues of social justice and the needs of diverse populations, we will look back on the impact of this past year as we explore treatment, cultural and familial influences, prevention, recovery, trauma and so much more.
